

Sources of measurement error are dealt with by:

- Correcting for effects of station relocations and other biases
- Removing stations with large urbanization effects from the data base
- Checking and correcting for many other sources of error